Stand by the flood ravaged people of Kerala

Dear Friends,

The people of Kerala are reeling under the worst ever floods in the past 100 years. The situation is very grave. All the 14 districts have been affected. As on now the death toll has crossed 400 and more than 8 lakhs of people have taken shelter in relief camps. The Kerala State Chapter of Breakthrough Science Society is working hard from the very beginning and is engaged in rescue operations as well as relief works in several places. People are going to face a bigger crisis when they return back to their homes in rebuilding their lives. For a large number of people their homes would have either been totally wiped out or would be in shambles. The rehabilitation and rebuilding of their lives is going to be a great challenge.

Our Society has always tried its utmost to remain beside the affected and distressed people. On earlier occasions during natural calamities like the floods in West Bengal, earthquake in Nepal, disaster in Uttarakhand, Tsunami, Floods in Tamilnadu etc. we have tried to render our helping hand at the greater call of humanity. To overcome the present crisis in Kerala we request your urgent support. Our affiliated local based science clubs are engaged in collecting relief materials and relief work is being carried out in several districts of Kerala. The work will get intensified once people go back to their homes. We would also be assisting the Medical Service Centre (MSC) in setting up medical relief camps.
